This time, like all times, is a very good one, if we but knew what to do with it.

Problems are with us now, and they will continue to be with us in the future. The present critical period of international uncertainty magnifies these problems. But problems should be a challenge, rather than a cause for discouragement. And only by facing obstacles and working together to overcome them can progress be made and goals achieved.

The many memorials on our campus and in our city are testimonials of past challenges successfully met. They are visible symbols of man's belief in himself and in future generations. But reliance on the past and hope in the future are not enough. Man's belief in himself must be demonstrated by active participation in the World of today.

Dr. Bowles not only brought a new course, a new major to The American University, but with him came sincere and lasting friendships that few achieve during the four short years of college life.

His active association with the University has paralleled that of our class: we both started in 1948, and we both finish in 1952. He has been a good friend and stimulating teacher; he has been active in all student affairs. He is a man who lives in the present and builds for the future — constantly striving toward the goal he has set for himself.

We dedicate the 1952 AUCOLA to the one professor who can grade forty-six "F's" to a class of fifty students and still have fifty friends.

▲ Bishop Hurst laying the cornerstone of the building named in his honor.

Hurst Hall in the winter of 1951. ►

"On the site of this old fort a University will be built. . . ." The ruins were those of Fort Gaines, a relic of the Civil War — the dreamed-of institution was our University.

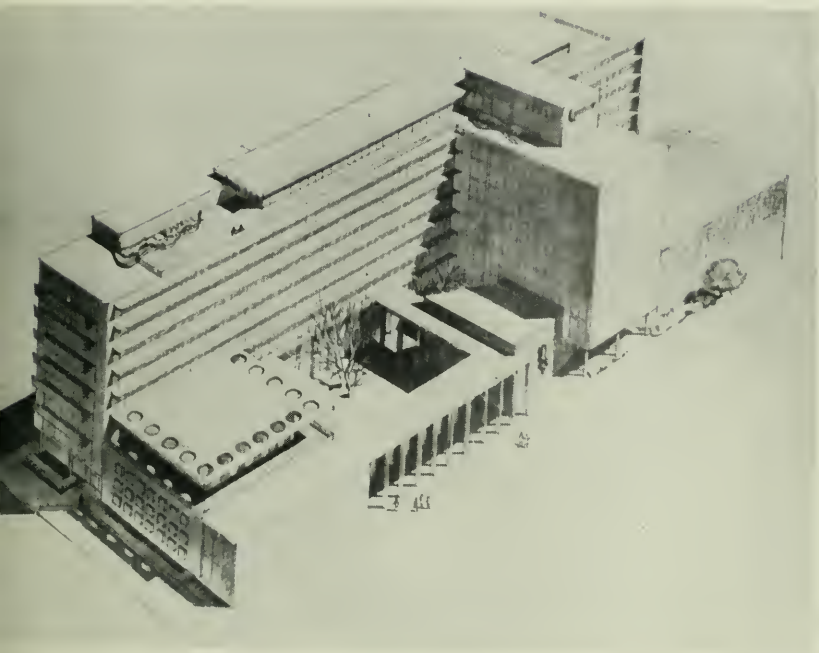

More than fifty years ago a Methodist Bishop, John Fletcher Hurst, was searching for a site on which to build. He had visions of buildings and a campus, but his dreams were more than this. He conceived of an institution in our Nation's Capital which would mold minds and character alike — minds and character which would one day cast their influence upon the life of the State.

It is said that when Bishop Hurst first saw the ruins of Fort Gaines he exclaimed to his companion, "We have found it!" What had Bishop Hurst found? We are a young school, and there has not been time for the formulation of unbreakable traditions — of ivy-covered walls. Nor have we as yet reached the goals Bishop Hurst had in mind — goals set up according to his envisioned ideals. We do not, however, have to advance with these same ideals; but our concepts must equal the original in quality.

When any growing institution such as The American University has attained one goal — another replaces it. But our goals should not consist of being as good or better than some other school . . . we must strive to be better than we are.

Some would say that The American University is two Universities — one a small liberal arts college on a suburban campus, the other a professional school for the serious-minded students in downtown Washington.

It is rather difficult to have a unified University when there are two main forces vying to separate it into disjointed segments. This is the challenge with which The American University is confronted. First of all there is the factor of location. The School of Nursing is really part of CAS, for the nurses take the majority of their classes on Campus. But they must travel approximately fifteen miles to St. Elizabeth's for their lab instruction. Then, too, it is four and one-half miles from the Uptown Campus to the Downtown School — which does not claim a campus. Many students take classes at both schools and have the inconvenience of transportation with which to contend. Secondly, there is the factor of enrollment to consider. The 506 full-time students are constantly rubbing shoulders with the 5100 part-time students; the young college-age students are in classes with the more serious married students who are concerned with far more than the thought of a coming dance, a fraternity rush party, or even an impending exam. The faculty has the same problem. Many are only part-time professors who are employed in an outside full-time position.

All these diversities have resulted in greater stimulation and broadening of interests of both student and faculty. But to continue in this vein would result in stagnation. The American University must be one University with one goal and one set of ideals.

DR. JAMES J. ROBBINS
Acting President of The American University
B.A., University of California; M.A., Harvard; Ph.D., Princeton

Vice President Robbins became our Acting President in an unexpectedly difficult year. During his seven months in office his willingness and sincerity have aided in the unification of the University into a functioning whole.

DEANS

Words don't usually succeed in expressing true feelings. In this case they could never be sufficient. But Dean Bentley must know how we feel about him when he remembers the six-minute ovation he received at the University of Mexico basketball game in 1950. He is the spirit of CAS—enthusiastic, young in heart, and a sincere friend.

The spirit of SSPA is contained in Dean Van der Slice. Though younger in years than Dean Bentley, Dean Van der Slice is just as mature—just as interested in us as individuals. The difference in the two men, as in the two schools, lies in the way these qualities are expressed. Dean Van der Slice's quiet, studious manner is truly representative of SSPA.

THE CLASS OF NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-TWO

"Let men who wish to know come and look upon this compass and thereafter determine which way they will go!"

—President Woodrow Wilson at the opening of The American University

The dark-red field of our Flag symbolizes human endeavor and conflict; the University itself is symbolized by the "compass of human life with its great needle pointing steadily at the lodestar of the human spirit," a thought expressed by Woodrow Wilson at the dedication of the Graduate School in 1914.

Our University has guided our class just as the human spirit guides human life. Our basic character has not been changed, merely directed toward the pursuit of true values. We, too, have had a share in the symbolism of the dark-red field—we have been faced with problems and have endeavored to solve them.

Founded: January, 1937

... that's what college is to incoming freshmen. The Orientation Program is planned to entertain new students; but this year the spirited enthusiasm of the Frosh was what really made the plans a success. Because of AU's October start, the weather forced us to hold our annual welcoming dance in the lobby of MGH. Here we danced to the music of the best orchestras available, which was piped to us over the sound-waves of Campus Station WAMU.

MARY GRAYDON HALL HOUSE COUNCIL is the governing body of the girls' dormitory. CAP AND GOWN is the women's honorary society which annually elects the Juniors and Seniors outstanding in scholarship, leadership, and extracurricular activities. The FRESHMAN HANDBOOK is an all-student publication issued each summer to help orientate new students.

Confusion is the key word for the freshman year, with excitement and merriment running close seconds. The first days are all fun despite the three full ones of testing. The climax of this first week is the Capping Ceremony followed by the traditional snake dance to the lower field. Soon the "moving-in" process is completed; the "settling" process is almost finished; and the "getting-acquainted" process is well under way. Then suddenly it is the first day of classes — and the serious side of college life begins.

GOVERNMENTS

This year the student governing bodies have been active in establishing a three-way system of cooperation involving trustees, faculty, and students. The problems of the two Councils, Community Association Council and College Council, are basically different. The former is concerned with not only SSPA's full-time students, but also with over 5000 part-time students, while the latter is only responsible for 300 full-time students. This year Presidents "Scoop" and Roy have each personally represented a different political school of thought: the concepts of delegated authority and controlled authority. Through seeing and comparing these two viewpoints in action, our political horizons have been broadened.

Klavan's "Kiss of Death Disc" spun our many radio and television majors into another opportunity to gain first-hand experience through their work with local stations. On Sundays the Guild organizes a one-hour program: "The American University Hour," on Station WOL, during which guests discuss topics of current interest. The Guild also works with WMAL-TV, whose transmitter is located on our campus.

POLITICAL - I. R. C. CLUBS

A portable soapbox for every occasion, membership in the Political or International Relations Clubs, and you too can become a "Veep." This year the two groups jointly sponsored the Student Model Atlantic Union Convention. This was the first in a series of meetings scheduled to be held at various colleges in the United States and abroad. The purpose of the Convention was to view student opinions on the idea of a proposed one-world union.

DG, PHI MU, ALPHA SIG, ATO TAKE FALL SPORTS

A well worn path to the lower field, straight hair, and bruised shins were evidence that the fall sports program was under way.

Alpha Sig raced off with the Track Championship by defeating ATO, their sole competitors, 16 to 25. In intramural football ATO and Alpha Sig swapped positions. The order of finish was: ATO, Alpha Sig, Phi Sig, Independents. ATO took another cup by a 37-point splash in the Men's Intramural Swim Meet. Alpha Sig chalked up 25 points; the Independents, 20.

In the feminine counterpart of the swim meet, DG's threesome tied Phi Mu's foursome for first—each tallying 25 points. KD was second with 21 points, and AXO trailed with 4.

Meanwhile, on land, the women's Varsity Hockey team had a spirited, although not too successful, year.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

The Panhellenic and Interfraternity Councils are the cooperating organizations of the fraternities. They organize rushing, the Interfraternity Ball, and Songfest.
 Their purpose is to maintain on a high plane interfraternity relationships and high scholastic and social standards.

Sororities and fraternities are something new in the lives of incoming freshmen—something they have looked forward to as an integral part of college life. Pan-hell and Interfrat are the mediums through which the Frosh are introduced to this new phase of life—the fraternity world.

The Song Written for Susan by Ev Wagman:

"I Don't Want to Cry Anymore"

"Hello, Clendenen, yes, there is going to be a show tonight. . . . Oh, it's you, Don! What? Where? Are you hurt? Wrong side of the road? Schoolbus! You're going to walk back? That's two miles, man!"

Three hours, four feet of snow and ten cast members later, backstage Clendenen began to look like there really would be a show despite the weatherman's understatement of "light snow" for the opening night of our original musical.

The presence of "Cover Girl" Pamela Springman, two-year-old victim of leukemia, was the incentive for both the cast and the audience to "go on with the show." The audience never suspected that the show they saw was made up of last-minute changes and ad libs due to missing cast members, props, and costumes; and the cast never expected to open on a night like this to a house large enough to bring in over 200 admission toys for the benefit of Children's Hospital.

"Hello, Mom? Yeah, there was a show tonight . . . the roads are still blocked . . . I can't walk home . . . don't worry . . . I guess a lot of us fellows will be spending the night in Clendenen . . ."

"Have you been a good girl?" asked Santa. And Susan had been: so her Christmas card was opened and its living surprises stepped out one by one.

Guy Glossbrenner and Joan Jenkins; Alice Petersen, Harry Cullis, and John Otto make with the "Showpaint".

CHRISTMAS WEEK BEGINS

Even "Sandy" Claus (in an 8½ gallon hat and a raccoon coat) was at the Phi Sig dance on the night that Alice Petersen was selected to be the fraternity's "Moonlight Girl."

Two nights later, when the choir gave its Christmas concert, it was so cold that it was practically impossible to drive — even the locks on the car doors were frozen. But figures in white formals were seen trudging the eight blocks to the "Toddle House" soon after the program was over. (To warm up, no doubt.)

"Where there's smoke . . ."

Cries of "Fire!" interrupted our Christmas party preparations. The smoke was so thick that at first no one realized exactly what was burning. When the smoke thinned out, we viewed the smouldering ashes of the newly-equipped WAMU building.

MGH really never did settle down that night, but the Candlelight Ceremony began on schedule. The reading of the Christmas Story by Maxine Yeager, voted "Best-Loved Girl," highlighted the simple ceremony. She was attended by the "Most-Representative" girl from each class and the Washington Semester group.

Voted "Most . . .": Jeanne Gedney (Frosh), "Pinkey" Gilbert (Jr.), Maxine Yeager, Marilyn Ashley (Sr.), Patsy Barton (Wash. Semester), Jody Narchood (Soph).

After the Candlelight Ceremony, dorm parties began the night's round of festivities. But by 2 A.M., MGH was deserted as the girls carolled their way from frat house to dorm.

The following night, ATO waded through the rain to the Lee House for their Christmas Dance. The crowning point of the evening was the selection of the "Sweetheart of ATO." The judges were quick in agreeing on Betty Elliott as the 1952 Sweetheart.

The "Sweetheart of ATO" is congratulated by her "Sweetheart", Bill Graham.

"... wonder what happened to Jim Petro, I see that "Zombie's" still around ... 8:30! I'd better get my seat ... big crowd tonight ... should be a good game; they almost beat us last year ... Hello, Mrs. Bentley ... our boys look small compared to last year ... hey, Peanuts! Look sharp, boy! ... hi, Don, when are you going to have the Political this year? ... ah, at last, they're getting started ... Say, this Selby can really jump ... Come on, Eagles! Hawk 'em, Hawk 'em! ... half time ... well, now we can get a look at the university beauties ... glad to see that everyone is represented ... three nurses in the group. Good! ... Lynn Murtha wins — about time SSPA has a Queen ... the floats look fine — that one's asking everyone to "stand up and holler" ... KD's float voted best ... this game is getting dull, the Mount sure looks sad this year — even our subs are trouncing them ... DG wins the poster contest — which one was theirs? ... you say there's a dance afterwards in Clendenen? I remember those informals ... You know, I'm just beginning to realize something — it isn't the fleeting school spirit shown for teams that counts; it's the spirit of unification that really binds you to your school and classmates ..."

WASHINGTON SEMESTERS

The Washington Semester program gives government majors from other colleges the opportunity to come to Washington for research in their major field.

Like traveling salesmen they come — hang their hat in the coffee shop, play a hand of bridge: become, for one short semester, a part of our University — then they go, carrying with them our messages to past Washington Semester Students.

‡Mason-Dixon Tournament Games

The AU Eagles under their astute coach, "Pop" Casell, turned in a brilliant 23-7 record for the entire 1952 basketball season. The Eagles stretched their league record to 13 consecutive league victories until Hampton-Sydney knocked them off their perch at the end of the season. AU lost out in the Mason-Dixon Tournament in the quarter-finals 30-31, the freezing tactics of Baltimore chilling our fast break. However, Pop's confidence in his team continued on the same level at the twilight of the season as it had been during the preceding victories; and the students' interest in and support of their team increased as the season drew to a close.

The Eagles finished the season with a 67.9 points-per-game average and held their opponents to a 53.0 average. The team scored 116 foul shots for a 61.5 percentage, and 811 field goals. Ed Moffatt was selected for the '51-52 all-conference team and was chosen along with center John Selby for the all-tournament second team.

Meanwhile, the AU Jayvees, coached by "Dutch" Schultz, had a "hard-luck" season, the majority of their losses being decided by narrow margins. The small squad, which drew heavily from the intramural program, did surprisingly well considering that it was hampered by a lack of practice due to the unavailability of the gym.

TEAM

Coach Bob Frailey's swimming team turned in another fine season churning up five victories against no defeats to finish with an unmarred slate.

The Mason-Dixon Conference Swimming Championships were held at the AU Pool March 14 and 15. In the meet our Tankmen claimed three champions. Wayne Johnson successfully defended his diving crown by amassing 110 final points to set a new conference diving record. Captain Charlie Peters won the 440 yard freestyle event and Jim Patten copped the 200 yard breast stroke for AU. Patten was high scorer for the tournament with 11 points earned by two seconds and a first.

AQUIANA'S "AQUATIC FANTASY"

"Earth Confidential" or "Twelve Months Under Water" was the basis for Aquiana's annual water pageant, in which the Earth's months were unfolded one by one in ballet sequences. The audience was entertained by everything from an underwater Scotch Jig to a marine Rudolph (complete with glowing red nose!). The show ended, and the cycle began anew with the thirteenth number—"Auld Lang Syne."

Anyone is eligible for participation in these annual water shows. Membership in Aquiana, the sponsor of the water ballet, is based on tests in speed and form swimming and diving. Members are grouped in classes according to their swimming skill. The twelve divisions range from "Guppy" to "Dolphin".

THE WHEEL OF FORTUNE— Candidates for Bunny Hop Queen:

THE SOPHS

Carefree is the key word for the Sophomore year . . . the only complaint being the scarcity of time in which to fit all those extracurricular activities into a limited school calendar which must unfortunately (?) consist also of a demanding scholastic schedule. Of course, there are also the minor feminine clothes problems and the masculine financial difficulties; and the continual questions of "where to go?" and "what to do?" All in all, however, it is obvious that the Sophomores "keep the joint jumping", climaxing their year with the annual Bunny Hop Dance.

From the host of enthusiastic tennis team candidates at the mid-March tryouts Coach Bob Frailey built his 1952 team. The returning lettermen are Albert, Greenfield, Skinner, and Tabor. A hard-working, spirited team. AU's racquetmen hope to better their dismal 0-8 record of last year.

BASEBALL

The AU Nine is the dark horse for the 1952 Mason-Dixon Baseball Crown. "Dutch" Schultz, in his first year as coach, has developed a hustling team that is expected to finish in the first division. The squad is studded with fleet-footed, high-spirited Sophomores and wise fourth-year vets. An infield with a defensive punch is provided by returning lettermen Aquilino, Baer, Phillips, and Olson. "Wally" (Butterfingers) Sangiorgio is still directing strategy from behind the plate; and outfield mainstays from the '51 season are Allen, Cone, and Pond.

▲ Outstanding: Larry Siracusa, Carol Summerfield, Maxine Yeager, Mel Hirshman.

AN APRIL CLOUDBURST OF HARMONY:

SONGFEST

Twenty laborers from Brazil took AU by "storm" the night of the annual Songfest competition. And, thought the peons did not win for themselves a cup, their performance will long be remembered. The defending fraternity, Alpha Sigma Phi, took another year's lease on the cup with their winning renditions of "Hail Sigma Phi" and "The Winter Song". The sorority cup was won by Kappa Delta, who sang their way to victory with "All the Things You Are" and "Here's to Old Kappa Delta".

Songfest is also the big night of awards. Eighteen Merit Awards were presented by Dean Bentley; the Panhellenic Cup to the Pledge with the Highest Scholastic Average was won by Doris Person of Phi Mu; and Phi Mu won the Scholarship Cup. Larry Siracusa of Alpha Sigma Phi was elected the Outstanding Senior Fraternity Man; Mel Hirshman, the Outstanding Senior Independent Man; Maxine Yeager of Phi Mu, the Outstanding Senior Sorority Woman; and Carol Summerfield, the Outstanding Senior Independent Woman.

SCIENCE SHOW

Once every two years, AU undergoes a three-day scientific mutation. This year all three floors of Hurst Hall were converted into display rooms, labs, and lecture halls for over 8,000 high school students and the many professional and collegiate visitors. Interest in the show was displayed not only by high schools in the Washington area, but also by schools as far away as New Jersey. The highlight of the exhibit was the unexpected eruption of a supposedly controlled volcano—an explosion which, while it injured no one, blew people in the room above out of their chairs.

The Chemistry Club and Beta Beta Beta, along with the faculty and administration, sponsor the Science Show. The Chemistry Club is an affiliate of the American Chemical Society and provides top-level professional associations for chemistry majors. Beta Beta Beta is the national society for students majoring in biology who have completed at least 12 academic hours with a 2.00 or better average in that department, and who have maintained a satisfactory average in their other studies.

INTRAMURALS

Forms, results, statistics: and Intramurals steam full speed ahead.

The 1952 Bowling trophies were copped by teams from Alpha Chi Omega and the Independent Men. Alpha Chi's winning average of 118.3 was 1.5 higher than that of Phi Mu. Kappa Delta, Delta Gamma, and the Independent Women finished in that order behind the pace setters. Trailing behind the classy Independents in the men's race were Alpha Sigma Phi, ATO, and Phi Sigma Kappa.

The Volleyball competition was "nip and tuck" with ATO defeating Alpha Sigma Phi in a playoff, and Phi Mu winning over Alpha Chi Omega.

In the individual sports "Jackie" Hoffercker of Phi Mu was high scorer, "bringing home" the Badminton, High-average bowler, and Ping Pong trophies. Tom Wong won the men's Ping Pong singles, and coupled with Wellington Hung slashed all comers for the doubles trophy.

Intramural Archery was organized for the 1952 season, and it took its place along with Golf, Tennis, and Horseshoes. The 1951 Softball cup possessors, ATO and Phi Mu, promised to retain their crowns.

A graduation present from the Class of 1953:
The Junior-Senior Prom . . .

OUR JUNIORS . . .

Concentration is the key word for the Junior Year—not merely personal but also scholastic concentration. The senior year is certain—a looked-forward-to certainty—but the approach to it isn't entirely a serious one. The Juniors concentrate just as intently on their fun as they do on their work. What better example could be set by upperclassmen?

Starving journalists would be in vogue . . . if we published it . . . but well-fed journalists are in style at AU as a result of the "meals" served at Pi Delta Epsilon meetings. A student who has had a major position on a University publication for one year, or a minor position for two years, is eligible for election to the fraternity.
